Custodial History

The collection was deposited between February 1995 and July 1997 by Mrs Betty Wade, the widow of William Wade, and Mr Edward Duyker, Mrs Wade's son-in-law. They had been housed at the warehouse of Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd at Danks Street, Waterloo, Sydney, where Mr Duyker and others conducted an appraisal exercise on the surviving records of the Company. The records that he considered to be of archival value were then packed into crates and boxes and were dispatched to the Noel Butlin Archives Centre in February 1995. Subsequent small deposits of items were deposited over the next two years. Ownership of the records remains with Mrs Wade

Arrangement

The collection is divided into 2 parts. N149 contains items that have been fully catalogued and have been recognised as being of archival value. Z532 contains items that were not felt to be worthy of permanent retention during the cataloguing process. These papers include duplicates, personal items of William Wade and his family, publications by institutions and companies other than those that are the subject of this collection, and records of the companies that are the subject of this collection that do not contain sufficient evidential or research value.

The items of archival material were then sorted into the following record groups to reflect the organisational background to the companies and individuals described within:

- (1) Glenn Wade Pty Ltd
- (2) Golden Glenn Investments Pty Ltd
- (3) A M Mainwaring Pty Ltd / PWA Building and Maintenance Pty Ltd

This reflects the central administration of the companies resulting in record series being created concomitantly.

CHRONICLE

The Company of Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd was formed by the merger of Peters Bryden and Peters Pty Ltd and AM Mainwaring Pty Ltd on 27 September 1945. Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd was renamed Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd in July 1973.

Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd

(including: Peters Bros Ltd, Peters Bryden and McKay Ltd, Peters Bryden and Peters Ltd, W H Peters Trading As Peters Bros (Redfern) Pty Ltd)

William Henry Peters was born in 1880. He had been involved in the carriage building industry since March 1901, diversifying gradually into coachbuilding and body building for vehicles. Peters Bros Ltd came into existence on 31 March 1915, becoming Peters Bros Bryden and McKay Ltd in 1932 and then Peters Bryden and Peters Ltd in 1934 to reflect the composition of the Company's owners.

The firm specialised in the manufacture of cabs and bodies for lorries under the G-Well name with customers including the International Harvester Corporation. The success of the firms hydraulic truck bodies led to the patenting and manufacturing of designs for farm equipment that would load sacks and bales. The farm machinery was marketed under the MFW name. The loaders used hydraulics made by Telehoist of Cheltenham in the United Kingdom. The firm's factory in Phillip Street, Redfern, NSW was turned over to the manufacture of military equipment during World War Two.

In the late 1930s, W H Peters established a private company under the name W H Peters Trading As Peters Bros (Redfern) Pty Ltd, and companies for his wife Nellie Catherine, his daughter Betty., and his son A H Peters.

A M Mainwaring Pty Ltd

(including: PWA Building and Maintenance Pty Ltd
William G Wade and Arthur N Allison Trading As Wade and Allison Pty Ltd)

William Glenn Wade had received electrical training from ^{the} two firms to which he was apprenticed: Magneti Electrics Co from 1928 to 1930 and George T Stowe from 1930 to circa 1932. On 1 December 1940, Wade and one of his colleagues, Arthur Nelson Allison (operating as William G Wade and Arthur N Allison Trading as Wade and Allison), bought the small electrical maintenance firm of Artur Morgan Mainwaring (A M Mainwaring Pty Ltd). In their factory in Sussex Street, Sydney the firm fulfilled maintenance contracts and manufactured and installed sirens and switchboards for the Navy during World War Two.

In 1944 The Registrar General rejected Wade and Allison's application to change the name of their company from A M Mainwaring Pty Ltd to Wade and Allison Sales Pty Ltd. Under the merger with Peters Bryden and Peters Pty Ltd, the company was renamed PWA Building and Maintenance Pty Ltd in 1950, its role being to undertake maintenance work at the merged firm's factories.

Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd

(including: Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd, PWA Industries Pty Ltd and its subsidiaries, and PWA Investments Pty Ltd)

Memoranda and Articles of Association were drawn up for the amalgamated company on 27 September 1945 recording a share capital of £150,000. W H Peters was appointed the first Managing Director but he died in 1948 and was replaced by William Wade. New memoranda and articles were signed on 2 February 1948 for the Company, increasing the share capital. Its headquarters were in Phillip Street, Redfern, where they remained until 1979.

The Company continued to manufacture truck and farm equipment alongside electrical equipment at first at the two Sydney factories and later in new plants at Kedron QLD, and Edwardstown SA. During the 1960s, however, production of MFW farm equipment ceased, and after great efforts to restore the G-Well truck equipment business to profitability and a lengthy court case with Probus API - who refused to pay for what they felt were inferior G-Well products - the assets of the lorry equipment business were sold leaving the Company to concentrate on electrical transformer manufacture.

On 27 July 1973, Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd changed its name to Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd (often reduced to Australian Power in the Company's records). The name change came at a time of restructuring in the global transformer industry and directors of the Company travelled extensively in Europe, North America, and Japan to learn from their competitors and to explore the possibility of co-operation agreements. William Wade sought interviews with leading politicians to obtain their support for the Australian transformer industry and he was active in trade associations such as the Transformer Manufacturers Association (part of the Australian Electrical Manufacturers Association) and the Electricity Supply Engineers Association (NSW). Above all, William Wade was keen to consolidate the Australian transformer business and he hoped that Australian Power would become a partnership that would challenge the likes of Westinghouse in the USA.

In 1975, Australian Power sold the rights to produce Power King transformers to Tyree Industries Pty Ltd and then Tyree bought the assets of the transformer division in August 1979. With the termination of the Company's industrial activities, PWA Investments Pty Ltd was established to administer the sale and any remaining assets. In 1990, the trade-mark and the distinctive logo of Australian Power was transferred to Australian Power Products Pty Ltd by PWA Investments Pty Ltd. The remaining manufacturing operation of Australian Power (Incorporated), known as the General Products division, was sold to Morlynn Ceramics in 1990.

The Holding Company and Subsidiaries

On 2 June 1956, the board of PWA Industries Pty Ltd met for the first time. It was established as a holding company to co-ordinate the operations of a host of subsidiary companies that undertook the production and marketing of the Company's products. As production increased, the Company was restructured with the assistance of W P Scott and Co Pty Ltd (management consultants). Scott's report was submitted on 29 December 1958 and over the next two years the board of Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd formed the following subsidiaries of its holding company:

PWA Vehicle Equipment Industries Pty Ltd
PWA Electrical Industries Pty Ltd

These two subsidiaries, established under memoranda and articles of association dated 29 June 1959 with a share capital of £300,000 each, were intended to be the main operating companies reflecting the division of the Company's core manufacturing activities. As the Company began to concentrate increasingly on the production of electrical equipment, the significance of these two companies declined. WG Wade bought PWA Vehicle Industries for himself in 1965 and with vehicle equipment manufacture ceasing altogether in 1968, the structure of the Company became divided into internal departments for the design, manufacture, administration, finance, and sales of electrical transformer production, rather than by separate operating companies.

G-Well Truck Equipment Co Pty Ltd
MFW Farm Equipment Co Pty Ltd
PWA Transport Equipment Co Pty Ltd

These subsidiaries were established by memoranda and articles of association on 29 June 1959 with a share capital of £5,000 each. They were intended to operate the different aspects of the Company's vehicle equipment business. G-Well Truck Equipment Co Pty Ltd (often abbreviated to GTE in the Company records) undertook to administer the production, sales and distribution of equipment and bodies for lorries. G-Well Products were manufactured at Kedron and in Sydney and were sold largely by other companies such as Athol Hedges Pty Ltd. The assets and business of GTE was sold in 1969 to Hydraulic Industries Pty Ltd. MFW Farm Equipment Co Pty Ltd was formed to manufacture and sell the Company's farm trailers, and bale and sack handlers. Its name changed to MFW Equipment Industries Pty Ltd on 21 August 1963 but manufacture of farm equipment ceased at about the same time. PWA Transport Equipment Co Pty Ltd seems to have been a non-operating company but was probably intended to administer the production of vehicle equipment beyond the activity of GTE and MFW, bodies for buses or cars for example. The subsidiary was sold to C W Holmes (one of the Company's solicitors) in 1966.

PWA Electrical Equipment Pty Ltd

PWA Electrical Equipment Pty Ltd was established with a memorandum and articles of association dated 30 June 1959 with a share capital of £5,000. It was a non-operating company probably intended to undertake the production of electrical equipment other than electrical transformers, which were the main business of PWA Electrical Industries by this time.

PWA General Sales Pty Ltd
PWA Electrical Sales Pty Ltd
PWA Industrial and Commercial Sales Pty Ltd

The three sales subsidiaries were established by memoranda and articles of association dated 29 June 1959 with a share capital of £25,000 each. PWA General Sales Pty Ltd, and PWA Electrical Sales Pty Ltd were bought by W G Wade in 1967.

Power King Transformer Co Pty Ltd

This subsidiary was established by a memoranda and articles of association dated 17 August 1960 with a share capital of £100,000. The subsidiary was formed to manufacture Power King electrical transformers. It remained in existence until the sale of the Company's transformer division in 1979 although as transformer manufacture dominated the Company's business in the 1970s, the subsidiary's operation effectively ceased in favour of an internal corporate structure within the Company.

The Superannuation Funds

In 1945, the W H Peters Superannuation Fund was renamed the PWA Staff Superannuation Fund (1944) to reflect the new structure of the organisation. In 1948, a second fund, known as the PWA Staff Superannuation Fund (1948) was established and was underwritten by the Mutual Life and Citizens Assurance Co Ltd. In 1955, the Tenth Anniversary Provident Fund was set up to provide employees with bonuses when they retired. A similar fund for executive officers of the Company, the Executives Retiring Fund, followed soon after.

Co-axial Management Consultants Pty Ltd

Co-axial was established by a memorandum and articles of association dated 18 August 1975 with a share capital of $10,000. It was jointly owned by William and Betty Wade and was involved in the negotiations surrounding the sale of Australian Power to Tyree Industries.

Other records in this agency group relating to staff should also be consulted. This series contains one item. It is a manual describing the organisational structure of the Company, and the duties of its executive officers and employees. The manual contains some related correspondence.

Ledgers of Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd / Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd 1958-1977 N149/893-894

The two ledgers in this series record daily financial transactions by the Company and its subsidiaries. Account balances are given for each month. See also N149/899

Newsletters of Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd / Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd 1952-1989 N149/896-899

The series contains copies of newsletters produced for the Company for internal and external distribution, and a file of correspondence relating to one particular issue. N149/896 contains copies of the PWA Bulletin, an occasional publication devoted to matters such as Christmas colsedowns, and personnel matters. Only part of one bulletin produced for G-Well Truck Equipment has been found and is in N149/897. Australian Power News was published occasionally from July 1975 to December 1989 by Coaxial Business Consultants Pty Ltd. Earlier issues give details about developments in products and structure of the Company - partly as a marketing tool and partly to inform employees - but increasingly they only contain news of Christmas and Easter closedown, aimed at suppliers and employees. informing

It may make sense to merge the contents of this series with those in 'Publications' (N149/1095-1099). The series sequence numbers in red assume that this will occur

Newspaper-cuttings of Peters Bros Wade and Allison / Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd

1949-1976

N149/895-897

(65) The series contains two binders and one bundle containing newspaper-cuttings. The cuttings are stuck onto sheets of paper with glue or pressure-sensitive-tape. The subject of the cuttings include advertisements and reviews of the Company's products and progress but also ^{contain} more general articles about the market for farm, truck, and electricity generation and control equipment generally. In item N149/897, there are also photocopies of lengthy articles from trade journals as well as newspaper-cuttings discussing Australian life and industry in general. The cuttings come from a wide variety of journals.

(127) Photographs of Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd / Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd

N149/900-1083

The series contains photographs ^{found amongst records} from the Company's papers. The photographs had been stored together in envelopes with general subject titles. Items N149/900-951 are generally images of W G Wade, other directors of the Company, and group photographs taken during functions including visits by W G Wade to the USA and Japan, and the ~~Australian Electrical Manufacturers Association~~ ^{Electrical Supply Engineers Association} (NSW) conference 1965. Items N149/952-956 contain images of the Company's premises in Sydney and South Australia. Item N149/966 is a collection of images of plant and equipment belonging to the Company - probably taken after the cessation of G-Well Truck Equipment's manufacturing activities. Finally, N149/957-965, 967-1083 are images of products and components produced - mainly by the truck and farm equipment side of the business - and images of rival products. The majority of images amongst the items are of lorries fitted with various body types or attachments. Where it is clear from the image that the body or attachment is a product of the Company, the name of the subsidiary manufacturer - G-Well or MFW - is given in the description of the photograph. It is likely that many of the lorry bodies and trailers featured in the photographs were manufactured by the Company but in many instances it is impossible to tell. Every effort has been made to bring photographs of like products and images together and where this is done, the quantity of photographs are recorded under the description for that particular item number. The description also records if the images are black and white ('b/w'), or colour. Only a few photographs in this series can be dated accurately. Therefore an estimate of the year in which the image was taken has been made (and 1940, 1950, 1955, 1960, and 1965 have been chosen as estimating dates). 'Cir' (for circa) has been used in the month field to illustrate when an estimation has been made. There are other photographs in this collection. Images of annual staff dinners can be found in files numbered N149/ ^{746-747, 752, 754-755}

(68) Promotional Material of Peters Bros Wade and Allison Pty Ltd / Australian Power and Distribution Industries Pty Ltd

1955-c1975

N149/1084-1094, 1093, 1193

The items in this series relate to the promotional side of the Company's activities. They contain artwork, advertising copy and photographs for use in advertisements for magazines. There are also 2 leaflets advertising G-Well products. Finally, the collection contains 5 green on yellow sashes that read 'Australian Power' and have the Company's logo on. The sashes were probably worn by hosts or representatives at conferences organised by the Company.
